To Find Money For Legal Bill

Although there have as yet been no bills for legal services in the Benjamin F. Dimlich case, School Supt. Edward I. Erickson expects to "find the money somewhere" within the department budget, whenever bills are presented for payment.

Queried on the point, Mr. Erickson said there had been no budget allocation for legal services. But he indicated that there would be funds available from within the general budget.

Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien is acting as counsel for the School Committee in the matter. Mr. Erickson said he doesn't know whether Mr. O'Brien will submit a bill for the work in Superior Court, prior to the end of the year, or whether he will present a bill

Fashion Show Is Oct. 18

Oct. 18 at 8 p.m., the Andover High School Auditorium will be the scene of a style-setting event when the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club presents, for the second time, imported fashions from the great fashion salons of Europe.

The outstanding success of last year's similar presentation by the Shawsheen club is directly responsible for this repeat performance.

A new and complete line of imported designs will again be offered to the fashion-conscious women of Andover and surrounding communities. Included in the showing will be Italian knits, separate coats, coat and dress ensembles, afternoon dresses, cocktail

Town Faces Vital Decision

Another grim chapter in the weighty volume, known as Rogers Brook Project, has been added this week.

And the key character in this new version is State DPW Commissioner Jack Ricciardi.

He entered the story when Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien and Selectman William Stewart, accompanied by Rep. William Longworth, discussed the project with him, as over-all head of the state's public works operations. Also attending was Waterways Division head Rodolphe Bessette, a central character in the Project story.

One of the first things Ricciardi did was contradict Bessette's decision on whether a private individual can have a section of the Brook job done at his own expense.

Instead of the abrupt "no" given by the director, his boss has flatly agreed to the proposal - as long as the state bears none of the expense. This gives Samuel M. Glazerman, owner of property on the west side of Main st., a chance to get routine approval for his own construction job. The only requirements are that the plans be specifically approved by the state, and that should be automatic because the state has already had the plans drawn to its own satisfaction. Initial approval from the Selectmen also is required.

Attention Travellers:

Aircraft Grounded

For a 12-hour period beginning at 1 p.m. Saturday, North America's airspace will be cleared of all except military aircraft engaged in a realistic - and possibly noisy - test of this country's air defenses.

Called Sky Shield II, the continent-wide exercise will be staged by the North American Air Defense Command. Exercise requirements call for complete freedom of movement at all altitudes by U. S. and Canadian military aircraft, in addition to a small number of British bombers.

High-speed bombers simulating attacking forces will attempt to jam far-flung radar and communications networks in testing probes of aerospace defenses, while air defense command fighter aircraft make mock intercepts.

Since large numbers of supersonic aircraft will be involved, sonic booms may be heard over much of the North American continent.

An estimated 70,000 commercial and general purpose aircraft will be grounded and more than 125,000 travelers will either sit it out or seek other means to get to their destinations. Also grounded will be all foreign air carriers normally operating in the U. S.

about Great Hymns
I Am Thine, O Lord

*I am Thine, O Lord, I have heard Thy voice
And it told Thy love for me;
But I long to rise in the arms of faith
And be closer drawn to Thee.*

A blind woman was the most prolific and perhaps the most popular writer of Sunday School hymns that America has ever produced. Fannie Crosby was born in 1820 and tragically lost her sight when only six weeks old. At 15 she entered the Institution for the Blind in New York City, remained 7 years as a pupil and 11 as a teacher. In all she wrote the extraordinary number of 6,000 hymns.

But according to Ricciardi, this is not policy at all.

If bids are sought, it must be with the intent to award a contract and do the work, he is known to have stated. The only grounds, it is explained, for refusal to award a contract would be bids in excess of appropriated funds.

Unlike his director, Ricciardi apparently did not specifically mention amounts of money, but said "some money" is available as matching funds.

In the many long months that the "book" on Rogers Brook has been compiled, Mr. Bessette promised far in excess of matching funds, then when none were on hand, said at least $195,000 would be forthcoming. But his written statement on this subject is still awaited, despite a formal request of the town for documentation.

After the interview with Ricciardi, Town Manager Duff commented that he believes the Brook job is necessary, and feels that at least a portion of it can be constructed.

"I think the Division of Waterways will still do good work", he commented, in remarking that the Division should not be blamed for one man's actions.

It is understood that the Selectmen will now have to search their souls for two answers:

Did the voters approve $195,000 in matching funds only if the entire job can be done? If the answer is yes, then the voters would have to be asked again, as the money won't go that far.

If the answer is no, then the question comes: What is a reasonable cost for each specific portion of the Brook?

And on the latter answer may hinge the fate of the project.

If the estimated cost can be determined with sufficient accuracy, and this appears reasonable, then it is understood that Mr. Duff favors asking the state to call for bids.

There is the chance that less than the full matching funds would be needed, according to the manager.

Queried as to his opinion on whether the full matching funds could be used up on a section, perhaps from the River to Main st., Duff noted "We'd have to be relatively sure that the bids would come in reasonably."

He thinks that good competitive bidding should help keep the prices down.

Asked whether the much-publicized granting of extras within the Division of Waterways could have any effect on the eventual cost, Duff said there should be a contingency fund for such things as extra ledge. He said this is a normal procedure, and that the state's resident engineer handles these matters on the job. The town is notified of extras, he explained, but has no control over them.

Mr. Duff said the town might have to put up its share of the matching funds, for however much of the project is completed, before it begins. Or, he explained, it might be some time after it is all over before the state asks for the money. He agreed that the town would have to pay half the cost of extras, as well as the original bid price, and also share the cost of engineering service on the construction.

In the manager's opinion, the possibility of studying the section from Main st. to Whittier should be considered, to determine whether plans can be adapted for a less expensive project.

In thinking about the future of the Brook, Mr. Duff said he believes it is important to get it reconstructed, even if this means asking future town meetings for additional matching funds.

He said the Selectmen may have reached some decision by next Monday night, when they meet publicly.

The Board is believed to have discussed the situation at an executive session this Monday evening, preceding the meeting with the Industrial Commission.

A sound argument never requires loud talk to put it across.

Andover Lost By One Touchdown

Marblehead was a 6-0 winner last Saturday at the Playstead despite three Blue Devil threats. Marblehead drove 79 yards in the opening period to score, but was completely stopped by a light Andover defensive team.

In the second period, a holding penalty nullified an apparent Andover score, when quarterback Ray Collins sneaked over. Marblehead then held on to stop the threat. The latter team also held at the one-yard line in the third period, then intercepted a pass during the fourth period, to put an end to Andover's scoring threats.

The Blue Devils face Woburn next Saturday, seeking their first win.

FOUR NEW THUNDERBIRDS

starring a smart Sports Roadster and a sophisticated Landau

This year Thunderbird's unique flair is expressed in four great originals! The crisp beauty of the four-passenger Hardtop, the swift-lined Convertible, the new Landau, an ultramodern town car version, with leather-grained vinyl top . . . and fourth, the limited-edition Sports Roadster. Sleek as a racing hydroplane, this is the most exciting invitation to two-passenger travel ever issued! Removal of the tonneau cover reveals the standard rear seat when four must journey.

All four are pure Thunderbird, graced with the individual ease that is Thunderbird's hallmark; the creative touches from "floating" rearview mirror to separate, molded foam rubber seats that set this car apart; the velvet authority of Thunderbird V-8 power. All four are crafted to Thunderbird standards of extraordinary quality and polished perfection of performance—a perfection you will want to see and sample at your Ford Dealer's now.

This year the unique Swing-Away steering wheel, which moves over to let the driver enter, is standard on all Thunderbirds.

N.E.F.D.A.

The slip-stream headrests of the Sports Roadster are an integral part of the lift-off tonneau cover (which can remain in place while the top is raised or lowered). Standard equipment includes chrome wire wheels.

A gleaming traditional S-bar on the leather-grained vinyl top distinguishes the new Landau. It has the power steering and power brakes that are standard on all Thunderbirds.

Many Activities Planned At "Y"

High School Youth in the Greater Lawrence Area have not been forgotten in the planning of youth activities at the Lawrence Young Men's Christian Association.

F. Lewis Brown, newly-appointed youth director at the local "Y", stated that a well rounded program of youth activities has been planned for high school boys in an attempt to provide youth with the opportunity of building a stronger spirit, mind, and body.

The physical department of the Y.M.C.A., headed by Richard P. Cate, physical director, and "Dinny" DiGennaro, associate physical director, will provide the opportunity for a well balanced athletic program for high school youth. According to the schedule developed, boys who are in grades 10, 11 and 12 will participate in two gymnasium programs per week, in addition to one instruction swim and two fun swims. Special interest classes, such as judo, wrestling, trampolines and heavy apparatus, are available and may take the place of the gym classes if desired. Time schedules for all physical activities are provided at the "Y" for those who wish to obtain them.

The Youth Division is open for high school boys from 1:30 until 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. Saturdays, high school boys are welcomed to use the game room from 1 until 8 p.m. Also, the youth division will remain open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. on days when schools are closed for bad weather, teachers conventions, and school holidays, with the exception of New Year's Day, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas.

A new club program for high school boys is also being planned at the local "Y". On the night of Oct. 23, at 8 p.m., the first meeting of the Lawrence Hi-Y Club will be held. Norman Salem, local "Y" wrestler, and former Hi-Y Club member, has been appointed advisor for the group. Mr. Salem has set Monday nights of each week as meeting night for the Hi-Y Club. The club meeting will follow the gym and fun swim classes for high school boys. Program plans call for thoughtful consideration of basic problems that are facing high school youth today, plus evenings of social and recreational fun. The "Y" will make an effort, through its Hi-Y program to stimulate among the Greater Lawrence High School young people an interest in themselves and others.

Membership in Hi-Y is open to any boy of high school age, regardless of race, color, or creed, who accepts the Hi-Y purpose and agrees to cooperate with other members in carrying it out. Applications for joining the club may be received at the Greater Lawrence YMCA.

Saving regularly gives you added security. It's like having an insurance policy that covers all contingencies. The bigger your account the more complete your coverage. And, this insurance pays generous dividends.

Saving gives you more for your money. Pay cash and you'll pay less. Financing charges run up the cost of big purchases a substantial amount.

You needn't be a big earner to live well through saving. Start an account with a small amount, and add to it regularly. Every three months, we'll add dividends.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Begging For Trouble

The town is asking, even begging, for trouble by continuing to seek a partnership with the Waterways Division of the State Department of Public Works.

In a practical sense, the town can lose money — even be forced into spending funds it doesn't want to spend — by its "partner", the state.

The very administrative practices and policies that strip the town of many of its rights have been under severe attack. While these practices are under investigation, the town, on moral grounds, should not enter into a partnership with the Division.

Let's be specific:

The state awards all bids; the town has little to say.

The state will award a contract if the bid is within the appropriation. If the state and town have $100 to spend, and the bid is $95, it will be awarded, even if the town thinks it is too high.

The state, through engineers on the job, approves "extras". The cost of these items can't be foreseen. The town has nothing to say about them, but must pay half their cost.

The state either uses its own engineers, or pays a consulting firm to supervise construction. In either case, half the cost is borne by the town, without having any choice in what individuals or firms are employed.

These practices lie behind most of the published charges of gigantic extras, shifting of contracts from firm to firm, excessive payments to engineering firms, awarding of contracts to low bidders that eventually, through extras, become the high bidders.

Such alleged practices, if true, and if encouraged by communities such as ours, will continue. They are costly to those who participate.

This is the moral reason for abandoning this project now.

The practical reasons are equally obvious.

It's possible the entire $390,000 available now — with state and town sharing the cost equally — could be used up in doing one section of Rogers Brook, either through outright bids alone or by the granting of extras along the way.

Having done one section, the town would be bound to a continuing construction program, including further appropriations to be matched with state funds. There is no known end. The job was estimated most recently as costing $640,000, but might go way over that amount if done in bits, over a few years.

No firm reliance can be placed on any ostensible agreement with the Division, unless it is in a solemn document, in view of the strange fluctuations of estimates of cost, and of Division promises regarding state participation.

Thus we have both a moral and a practical reason to get out while the getting is good . . . before we are committed to a partnership without equal rights, except when the bills must be paid.

Our Code

In observance of National Newspaper Week, Oct. 15-21, we feel it is proper to remind you, our readers, that behind every page, and subconsciously underlying each editorial is a code of ethics to which we subscribe.

These Canons of Journalism were drawn up and adopted by the American Society of Newspaper Editors in their annual conventions and Sigma Delta Chi also has adopted them in behalf of the Journalistic Society.

These Canons state that the "Primary function of newspapers is to communicate to the human race what its members do, feel and think. Journalism, therefore, demands of its practitioners the widest range of intelligence, of knowledge, of experience, as well as natural and trained powers of observation and reasoning. To its opportunities as a chronicle are indissolubly linked its obligations as teacher and interpreter."

The Canons define the practices and the aspirations of Both parties have agreed;

And to the GOP we
Surely shall pay heed.
We'll grant their claim to wisdom;

American journalism, as involving:

"The right of a newspaper to attract and hold its readers is restricted by nothing but consideration of public welfare

"Freedom of the press is to be guarded as a vital right of mankind

"Freedom from all obligations except that of fidelity to the public interest is vital

"Good faith with the reader is the foundation of all journalism worthy of the name

"Sound practice makes clear distinction between news reports and expressions of opinion"

It is with these Canons in mind that this newspaper exercises its weekly function.

250 Years Of Service

South Church will celebrate its 250th anniversary Oct. 15-22 — 250 years of religious, humanitarian service to the community.

From the days when the South Church and Parish were practically synonymous with the Town itself, to the present day when church and government are carefully separated, the South Church has been a vital force in the community.

But when we say "church", we are actually discussing people — the 13 ministers who have served the South Church, and the hundreds and thousands of devoted laymen who have worshiped and worked within the parish.

Thus as we pay tribute to the South Church on its anniversary, we really are paying homage to the men and women connected with the Church over the years.

Their work — the work of the Church — has been, and will continue as one of the truly vital factors in the development of the town.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — October, 1911

The will of the late Abiah Gunnison leaves a probable $8,000 to the Andover Home for Aged People; $1,000 to the Free Church; and $200 each to the GAR and the Relief Corps.

The Elite Millinery Shop on Barnard st. held its opening Tuesday of this week.

The automobile of Frank G. Dunbar of Lowell, valued at $4,300 was destroyed by fire in West Andover last Saturday.

Edward Lawson has returned from a two-week trip to Annapolis Royal, and has entered the Lowell Textile School. He will study designing.

F. S. Boutwell was elected president of the Home for the Aged at a meeting Tuesday.

25 Years Ago — October, 1936
Andover's new school buildings are to be opened to the public Saturday, the Building Committee decided Monday evening. The new auditorium, gymnasium, cafeteria and classrooms will all be on display.

The Board of Public Works has officially moved into its new quarters in a store on Barnard st., leaving its town hall offices for use by the Selectmen and the Old Age Assistance Bureau. The move was made despite protests that town functions should be housed in the town hall, which seems to be getting more crowded.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars elected officers Friday evening. They are Robert Deyermund, commander; Edward Dodge, senior vice commander; Frank Petty, junior vice commander; Alexander Blamire, chaplain; Arthur Cole, quartermaster; John Erving, Post advocate and Peter Quinn, surgeon. Mr. Blamire is the outgoing commander.

Because the Townsman will change its size and format next week, all copy must be in hand a day early.

The public is invited to a rally at town hall next Wednesday, when speakers from the various national parties will speak on the platform's adopted by the parties.

10 Years Ago — October, 1951

The Board of Trade, at an enthusiastic meeting, named its first officers. They are W. R. Hill, president; Harold E. Heseltine, first vice president; Samuel M. Glazerman, vice president; and Miss Anna M. Greeley, secretary-treasurer.

Deputy Fire Chief Henry L. Hilton returned to duty today, five months after being called to active duty in the Marine Corps. He had previously served four years during World War II.

The Selectmen have approved the issuance of a liquor license to Ann's Andover Cottage.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman

"I would like to comment on your suggestion that the proposed community conference on education be planned around ideas originating from the public. The idea of a conference is sound because a communications gap exists between the schools and the public. Any device which helps close the gap is a good thing, provided functions in the public interest."

"The impetus for such a conference can originate at three places: the professionals, the public or the school committee."

"If the professionals direct such a conference on their own, there is a danger that they would use it to their own advantage. Some what groggy from the barrage of criticism emanating from quarters (including the NEA) they would use the opportunity to defend themselves. But a defense of the status quo would achieve no improvement in our academic performance."

"Were the public to run the show as you suggest, I see other dangers. There is no agreement among the public as to what should be done, how. And the most voluble citizens are not necessarily representative of the public as a whole. Such a conference might create nothing but confusion."

"The idea that the School Committee should take charge is sound in principle because, as the public's official representative, its members should be staunch promoters of the public's educational welfare. In practice, however, they are so bogged down with administrative details that there is little opportunity to get into the difficult areas of educational standards, performance and direction."

"I now submit my own proposal for the direction which an educational conference might take. The theme is pliffed (with thanks) from the candidates for election to the School Committee. If there is one common denominator of these candidates' remarks to the voting public, it is to be found in these two words: 'Better Schools'. These are significant words because they imply dissatisfaction with present standards and suggest that we have the capacity for self-improvement. These words apparently strike a responsive chord in the public's mind. Their chief advantage is that they shift attention to the future."

"If what the public really wants is better education, but if the public is confused; if the School Committee has a hard time coming to grips with the realities of the situation, why not turn to the profession for leadership?"

"In the past, the pros have been on the defensive and have explained the past on the immediate present. Were it possible (and I am sure it is) for them to reorient their thinking, to transcend the status quo, to look ahead for five years, to think big, to apply their ingenuity and their talents to shaping a brighter educational tomorrow, I am confident that the challenge of such a vision would engender excitement, liberate minds, stimulate creative thinking, uncover hidden reservoirs of ideas to help bring about the best of which we are capable."

"It is logical that our professionals (administrators and teachers alike) should have first crack at the ball. If they strike out, there will be time enough to turn to other groups. There is always the chance that tapping our own professional resources will result in a break-through to higher educational achievements. It is necessary, however, that a climate of unrestricted thinking be created by our administrators in order to evoke a free flow of ideas."

"A side benefit of such a program would be the insight administrators would get into the creativity of their own teachers. It would also give a new dimension to our rather feeble attempts at teacher-merit evaluation."

13 Ministers Faithfully Served South Church

The fifteen pastorates since the founding of South Church in Andover have been filled by a succession of illustrious men, many of whom are distinguished in New England history.

Samuel Phillips, the first minister, was ordained on the same day that the new church was founded, Oct. 17, 1711; but he had been preaching to the parish since April 30, 1710. The church voted its desire for his continuance Nov. 2, and the parish voted unanimously Dec. 12 that he should be their "settled minister". It was because of his unwillingness to assume so important a charge so young that his ordination was postponed to the following year.

Mr. Phillips was educated at Harvard College and, after teaching for a year at Chebacco, now Essex, he devoted himself to the ministry.

The ministry of Mr. Phillips was exceptionally prosperous and successful. Andover was a growing community. Its chief problem, the forays and depredations of the Indians, was at this time a diminishing one. Religious meetings were well attended. The church and the parish were unified. The minister was a warm and kind leader of his congregation, admired and respected by his parishioners. His admonitions were stern but practical. His preaching was highly regarded and much in demand by neighboring parishes, particularly for special occasions.

He continued his active ministry until a few weeks before his death June 5, 1771, at the age of 81, after more than 61 years of service.

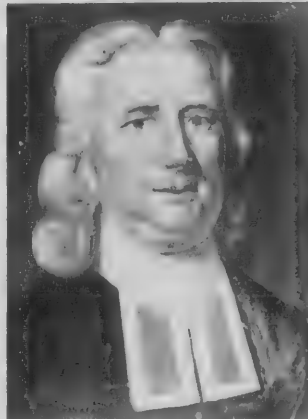

In addition to his outstanding ministerial ability, Mr. Phillips was an able manager of his personal affairs. His salary was small and he donated one tenth of it for religious and charitable purposes. Nevertheless, he educated his family liberally and accumulated a large estate. His children and grandchildren also demonstrated a high order of ability and idealism. Of his three sons, Samuel and John were joint founders of Phillips Academy in Andover. John was sole founder of Phillips Academy in Exeter, N. H., and William was a trustee of the Andover academy, to which he contributed liberally.

Jonathan French, the second minister, was ordained Sept. 23, 1772. He was born at Braintree and at 17, enlisted as a private soldier. At the age of 27, he resigned from the service and entered Harvard College, where he was graduated in 1771. After his graduation he remained at Cambridge to study for the ministry. He had intended to become a missionary to the Indians but was induced to preach as a candidate at Andover, where he settled and continued as pastor until his death July 28, 1809.

Mr. French was best known for his hospitality and friendliness. By precept and example he encouraged his parishioners in the practice of Christian virtues while he steadfastly avoided entering into the great theological controversies which raged during his pastorate. During his years at Castle William he had studied medicine and practiced surgery. With this experience, he was often able to help his people with their minor medical problems, always free of charge. He was a staunch patriot and supporter of the Revolution, which came early in his ministry. When on a Sunday morning he heard of the battle of Bunker Hill, he straightway set forth with his musket and surgeon's kit for the battlefield, where he gave aid and comfort to the wounded.

It was during his ministry also that Phillips Academy was founded in April, 1778. Mr. French was one of the 12 original trustees and continued to serve until his death.

For three years after the death of Mr. French there was no settled minister at South Church. But in 1812, attention was centered on young Justin Edwards, then a member of the middle class in the Andover Theological Seminary. Mr. Edwards was called by an almost unanimous vote, and was ordained Dec. 2, 1812. He was born in Westhampton April 25, 1787, and at the age of 17, resolved to enter the ministry. He entered Williams College as a sophomore and was graduated, valedictorian of his class in 1810. After teaching for a few months, he joined the Seminary in Andover.

Mr. Edwards entered upon his ministry with the same vigor and decisiveness which characterized his whole life. He often visited 10 or 15 families a day, reading the Bible, conducting family prayers, and taking the names of all children so that he could supply them with small religious books and tracts.

He formed a society called the "Andover South Parish Society for the Reformation of Morals" aimed primarily at the evils of profanity, Sabbath breaking, and intemperance. This was the first of many similar societies which he formed. In 1827, Yale College conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity, and Oct. 1 of that year, he relinquished his pastorate at South Church.

The fourth minister was Milton Badger, who was ordained Jan. 3, 1828. A native of Coventry, Conn., now Andover, he was born May 6, 1800. He prepared for the ministry at Yale Divinity School and Andover Theological Seminary, with the class of 1827.

Mr. Badger's pastorate at Andover, his only pastorate, was a time of religious revival. During his 7 1/2 years of ministry, 330 new members were added to the church, most of them by profession of faith. The memory of these years had a profound and lasting influence on the parishioners of that time. Oct. 4, 1835, Mr. Badger resigned his pastorate to become secretary of the American Home Missionary Society, a post which he filled with distinction for 34 years.

Lorenzo Lorraine Langstroth was the South Church minister from May 11, 1836 to March 30, 1839. Born in Philadelphia, he was graduated at Yale College in 1831 and continued his theological training at Yale Divinity School. After resigning his pastoral office because of ill health, he became principal of Abbot Female Academy for one year.

Mr. Langstroth is distinguished much less for his achievements and ability as a minister or teacher than for his genius as a bee keeper and student. In Philadelphia in 1851, he made the discovery of the bee space which made possible the development of the hive with movable frames and revolutionized the bee-keeping industry. A bronze tablet in his memory was presented to South Church by the Massachusetts Federation of Beekeepers Associations, and was dedicated July 22, 1951.

The sixth minister was John L.

Taylor, D.D., who was ordained July 18, 1839. He was born Warren, Conn., and graduated Yale College in 1835. Mr. Taylor served as pastor for 13 years, one day. He was dismissed at his own request July 19, 1852 to become treasurer of the Trustees of Phillips Academy. In 1868, he became Smith Professor of Lecturer on Pastoral Theology at the Andover Theological Seminary.

Charles Smith served both seventh and the ninth pastorate. He was chosen by the church the day after Mr. Taylor was dismissed. Mr. Smith served only months, and then was called to the Shawmut Church in Boston where he was installed in that church Dec. 8, 1853.

While he was serving as assistant pastor of the Oak Place Church in Boston, Mr. Smith was again called to South Church where he was installed Dec. 18, 1861. This time he served more than 14 years, resigning April 20, 1876, because of poor health, and continued to live in Andover until his death Oct. 29, 1887. After his retirement, he served four years as representative in the state legislature. Just before his death, he completed a history of Andover which has since been published as the "History of the Towns of Essex County".

For nearly two years after Mr. Smith's 13-month pastorate, South Church was without a settled minister. During this time, many candidates were heard, and an invitation extended to one of them was declined. Finally a unanimous call was issued to George Moor. It was accepted and Mr. Moor was ordained Oct. 10, 1855. Mr. Moor was unique among South Church ministers in that he was a native of Andover. Born May 1, 1830, he attended Phillips Academy and Williams College, where he was graduated in 1851. After teaching for one year, he entered the Andover Theological Seminary where he was graduated in 1855. In addition to his parish duties, which he entered upon with zest, he contributed also a South Church Historical Manual, which summarized the highlights of church history and included a catalog of the membership since the founding of the church. This work was published in book form in August, 1859. It was also due to his ministry and due to his measure to his efforts that the present meeting house was erected in 1860. He resigned his pastorate and was dismissed March 27, 1861, to become pastor of the Congregational Church in Oakland, Cal., professor in the Pacific Theological Seminary. Later the degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him.

The 10th pastorate was served by James H. Laird, who was installed May 10, 1877. Mr. Laird was born in Milton, Pa., and was educated at Oberlin College, where he was graduated in 1860. Continuing at Oberlin Theological Seminary, he received his theological degree in 1864. He served South Church almost six years until April 23, 1883.

Early the next year, the local weekly newspaper carried a statement to the effect that on Jan. 2, 1884, at its annual meeting, South Church voted "with great unanimity" to extend a call to John Blair of Rockland, Me. Two weeks later, another item noted that meeting of the Parish was held which voted to concur in the call and voted a salary of $2,000. A little more than eight years of service, Mr. Blair became ill in September of 1892, and relinquished his pastorate Jan. 24, 1893. By the end of the year, his health had improved enough for him to address the congregation at the installation of his successor, Frank R. Shipman.

Mr. Shipman was born in Hartford, Conn. and attended Yale University, where he was graduated in 1885. He studied law in his father's law office, then returned to study for the ministry at Yale Divinity School, where he was graduated in 1889. For 31 years, he was assistant pastor of the Centre Church. Outdoor Service Planned At Famed Missionary Rock

One of the features of the 250th anniversary week at South Church will be an outdoor memorial service at Missionary Rock Sunday, Oct. 22, at 9:15 a.m. preceding the regular worship service in the church sanctuary.

Participants will include Tramad Gadre of Ahmednagar, India; the Rev. Jose Chipenda of Lobito Bay, Angola, Africa; Mrs. C. Edward Buchan, chairman of the Benevolence Committee of South Church, and children of the church school. The South Church youth choir will provide music under the direction of Keith H. Gould.

Missionary Rock is on the shore of Rabbits Pond on the Phillips Academy campus. It marks the spot where in 1810 the first missionary students of Andover Seminary walked and talked about plans which led to the formation of the first American Society for Foreign Missions in that year. The rock bears a bronze plaque presented in 1910, which names seven of these students and recognizes 248 missionaries trained in Andover Seminary.

South Church members contributed substantially to the financing of the seminary, South Church ministers were active in organizing it and helping teach classes, and many of the missionary students were from South Church families. Until 1815, all services and meetings of the Seminary were held in South Church, and the first class was graduated in the sanctuary.

Pinkham Wrote Special Music

Daniel Pinkham, composer of "God Is a Spirit", the final choral work in the 250 Years of Music Program is organist and director of music at King's Chapel in Boston.

One of the most versatile of our younger musicians, he is listed on different recordings on more than 15 labels as composer, conductor, harpsichordist, organist, and pianist. As harpsichordist, he has played regularly with the Boston Symphony Orchestra since 1950 both in concert and on recordings.

Mr. Pinkham was born June 5, 1923 in Lynn, to a prominent family engaged in the manufacture of patent medicines. His great grandmother was Lydia E. Pinkham. His serious music education began when he attended Phillips Academy. He subsequently received the degrees of A.B. and M.A. in Music at Harvard University. Walter Piston was his first composition teacher, and he has since worked with Aaron Copland, Arthur Honegger, Samuel Barber, and Nadia Boulanger.

He studied organ with E. Power Biggs, and harpsichord with Claude Jean Chiasson, Putnam Aldrich, and Wanda Landowska. He also studied choral conducting with G. Wallace Woodworth and orchestral conducting at Tanglewood with Stanley Chapple. In 1950 he was awarded a Fulbright Fellowship.

The composition of "God Is a Spirit" was commissioned by the 250th Anniversary Committee of South Church. The text is taken from the confession of faith used by South Church congregations in the reception of new members. Mr. Pinkham will conduct the South Church sanctuary choir in the first performance of this work Oct. 20.

The remainder of the service will be directed by Keith Gould, organist and director of music at South Church.

Old-Time Items On Exhibit

For those interested in historical items connected with the South Church anniversary, a special display will open Sunday at the Church and be continued until Oct. 22. Interested persons may view the display from 2-5 each day, and at the time of each anniversary observance.

Typical of the exhibits is an old pewter Communion set used in the South Church and then given to the First Church in Methuen on its founding. Also on display will be the weather vane from the third meeting house; foot warmers used before central heating; chairs and other furniture from the old meeting houses, early church documents and old photographs.

Parade Sunday Along School St.

One of the interesting programs planned for Sunday, as part of the observance of the South Church 250th anniversary, is the Historical Procession. Scheduled for 2:15, the marchers will walk along the full length of School st., ending at the Church. Church families, dressed in costumes of the period covered, 1711 to 1961, will walk, ride horseback, on bicycles and in vintage automobiles.

Rev. Noss Serves Faithfully

REV. FREDERICK B. NOSS

Frederick Boyer Noss, the present minister of South Church, is serving the 15th pastorate in its 250-year history.

Friday, Nov. 3, 1961, 17 days after the 250th anniversary of the founding of South Church, will be the 30th anniversary of his installation as minister. He ranks third in length of service among the 13 men who have filled these pastorates. The first and second longest terms of service are those of the first and second ministers, respectively, Samuel Phillips, who served almost 60 years, and Jonathan French, who served almost 37 years. These two men were the only South Church ministers in its first 100 years of history. The next period of 50 years saw six ministers come and go. In the last 100 years, the seven remaining pastorates have been filled by five other men. Charles Smith and Frank R. Shipman each served two pastorates.

Mr. Noss was born of missionary parents in Sendai, Japan, June 3, 1901. One of a large family, most of his life has been spent in America. His college training was received at Princeton University, where he was graduated in 1923. He studied for the ministry at the Theological Seminary in Lancaster, Pa., where he was graduated in 1927. His first ministry was at the Boxford Congregational Church, where he served from December 7, 1927 to Oct. 1, 1929.

He came to South Church as associate minister during the brief second pastorate of Mr. Shipman, and was installed as minister after Mr. Shipman's retirement. From the beginning of his ministry in the depths of the depression, through the second world war, and up to the present time, the membership and work of South Church have increased greatly. In order to accommodate the burgeoning Christian Education program, an addition to the meeting house was built which was dedicated Oct. 7, 1956.

for the entire cost of the case, after a Supreme Court decision has been reached.

Mr. Erickson, however, suggested that the Committee may wish to insert a special budget item for payment in 1962.

At the Committee meeting last Friday evening, considerable discussion followed presentation of a letter from the Town Employees' Association, in opposition to further legal action. The letter stated the Association's disagreement with the appeal to the Supreme Court, and suggested that a public hearing be held before further action is taken.

The School Committee voted to acknowledge the letter stating that "the appeal is made on the advice of town counsel, as a result of a 3-2 majority vote of the Committee". It was noted that the Committee specifically used the phrase "town counsel" in the vote, rather than special counsel. In other discussions, and when Mr. O'Brien was retained for the court case, it was stated that he was acting as special counsel, and not in his official capacity as town counsel.

May Apply For P.A. Admission

Phillips Academy has announced its procedure for the selection of day students for admission in September, 1962.

All candidates will be required to write the Secondary School Admission Tests in the Educational Testing Service, which will be given in Andover (as well as throughout the United States) Saturday morning, Dec. 9, 1961. Applications for the tests must reach the Educational Testing Service before Nov. 25 on a form to be supplied by the Academy's Admission Office. Day student candidates must, therefore, make application to the Academy before Thanksgiving. Appointments may be made by phoning the Academy. Interviews should be completed by Dec. 15.

Admission is granted each year to a limited number of qualified day students from the Greater Lawrence area. Selection is competitive and is based on character, personality, breadth of interest, academic achievement and promise as measured by the candidate's academic and general record. In addition, a personal interview and the results of the Secondary School Admission Tests are important. Scholarships, based on need, are available for successful candidates.

All inquiries should be addressed to the Admissions Office, Phillips Academy.

TEEN CENTER ELECTION SATURDAY

Teen Center members will elect officers Saturday night, who will become members of the Teen Council.

All members, in order to vote, must have their membership cards.

P.F.'ers To Discuss Church's Role

The Free Church P.F. will hold a discussion this Sunday evening on the role of the Church in the community entitled "Outside the Walls".

The discussion will be led by Miss Helen Ellis, advisor to the group. Use will be made of a television film to provide background for the discussion, which is taken from a series titled "Tab-Back". Parents are invited to the program.

After the discussion, a "Silent Auction" will be held in which P.F.'ers will auction off their time to do odd jobs to earn money for the mission project of building a library at Mt. Silinda in Southern Rhodesia, Africa.

Central PTA Has Scheduled Meeting

The first Central Elementary School PTA meeting will be held Oct. 25.

Classroom visitations will begin at 7:45, for half an hour, to be followed by a business meeting. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Karen Mears Had Birthday Party

A birthday party was held last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mears on Andover st., Ballardvale, where the 12th birthday of their daughter, Karen, was celebrated.

Games were played and refreshments were served by Mrs. Mears. Karen received many gifts and cards. Guests included Marilyn Maxwell of North Andover, Nancy Haggerty, Sandra Brouck, Marjorie and Catherine Steele, Deborah Maher, Betty Ferrier, Sharon Dunn, Rickey and Karen Mears.

College Admissions Will Be Studied

The difficult problem of college admissions will be analyzed this weekend at Phillips Academy, the annual fall meeting of the Secretaries, Class Agents, and Alumni Council.

Friday evening, the alumni group and their wives will attend a panel discussion led by Thomas C. Mendonhall, '28, president of Smith College. Two men's colleges will be represented by Arthur Howe, dean of admissions at Yale, and Wilbur J. Bender, former dean of admissions at Harvard.

possibilities of the Commission, and then asked for the expression of approval. The meeting, scheduled for several weeks, is the second of a series, during which the Selectmen will meet with all of the town boards and departments.

In general, Mr. Haselton explained the function of the IDC in Andover, and its specific problems. He noted that the town's situation is entirely different than that in Lawrence, where a specific industrial park is set up, under the control of a developer. Numerous persons own industrial property here, he explained, and no attempt is being made on an official level to put the parcels together in one package.

He noted that three members of the Commission serve on the Greater Lawrence Industrial Committee, and felt that there is no contradiction in the double service.

He explained that the experiences learned while serving in one capacity are of assistance in the other; and noted that there is no conflict of interest because the problems of the communities are so different.

A plea for understanding of the situation was also presented - on the basis that Andover is actually part of the Greater Lawrence Community and not an island.

The Commission, it was stated, has prepared a loose-leaf cover, for a brochure made up of prepared material that can be stapled into the document. This material presents most of the data available about the town and what it has to offer.

Square Dancers Keep Active

The third session of the beginner square dance class sponsored by the Raytheon Employees Activities Association will be held Wednesday Oct. 18, at the Junior High with Dick Steele, Lexington instructor and caller, in charge.

A total of 105 candidates have registered to date and about 50 members of the Rocketeers Square Dance Club are assisting in the class training. The coming session will be the last opportunity for new adult beginners to join the class.

The Rocketeers, Town Travelers of Lowell and the Merri-Valles of Haverhill held an inter-club festival at the Junior High Memorial Gym Saturday night, with Jim Mayo of South Acton as master of ceremonies.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kardos and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Borer served on the local club committee for the affair, which was attended by approximately 200 dancers.

GIVEN APPROVAL FOR SCHOOL USE

statement to the School Committee, covering his activities in dealing with requests for use of the school by this group. The remarks stated:

"Last week I read an article in the Townsman relative to plans by the Recreation Group and the statement that it was not possible to obtain confirmation for the use of the high school facilities from the superintendent.

"Mrs. Medick telephoned me a few weeks ago to ask for the use of the high school two evenings a week. I told her that I would be glad to discuss the matter when I had received her proposed program. The reason that she did not obtain my approval is because she has never submitted her plan, as to the use of the building, to my office.

"The town of Andover has a school plant valued in excess of seven million dollars.

"One of the responsibilities of the superintendent, according to School Committee rules, is to supervise the rental of the various areas of the school property. Article XII, Section 2, reads in part as follows: 'Indiscriminate use of any and all school buildings would prove, in the long run, to be a costly proposition as well as a difficult problem to administer'.

"When we rent, or allow groups to use a facility, arrangements are made with some one person who will accept the responsibility to be certain that the school will be used properly in such matters as:

A. Smoking privileges; B. The way the building and equipment will be used; C. Responsibility for keeping out persons who do not belong there; D. Care to restrict expense for needless and uneconomical lighting and heating;

Special Primary Unusual Politics

Despite gloomy forecasts of voter indifference, political observers are now predicting a better than normal vote in the special primary next Tuesday, when 1,000 candidates seek two nominations for representative.

The sharpened interest in the campaign appears to have resulted, the observers say, from campaigns waged by two or three of the Republican hopefuls. Anxious to fight the apathy that affects voters at primary time, the candidates have been pulling out all the stops in an effort to get out a sizeable vote.

Although there's no way to predict the vote with any accuracy, some experts feel that much of the "who-cares" attitude of the voters - both Republican and Democratic - has been shattered. The representative district includes Andover, North Andover, Ward One of Lawrence and all but precinct three in Methuen.
